Integration Matters at a Glance

Integration Matters is a software company that provides expertise, tools and solutions to monitor business-critical processes, based on a wide variety of integration platforms. The software empowers customers to achieve better business outcomes faster. Integration Matters markets its products and services to enterprises worldwide.

The market-leading solution nJAMS enables over 300 enterprises, spread across the globe, to respond to business issues and opportunities faster and to achieve corporate objectives. These customers come from the energy, telecom, banking, insurance, retail and transport and logistics industries. All these enterprises are highly adaptable, in order to stay competitive in their fast-moving markets.

Integration Matters was established in 2005 by integration specialists Abdelghani Faiz and Hendrik Siegel. Corporate mission is to empower enterprises with real-time operational insights to become successful digital businesses. Its solutions help to detect, correct and even prevent operational disturbances in a high-volume and high-availability environment.

Enterprises benefit from Integration's Matters years of experience with business-critical integration platforms from TIBCO, Oracle, SAP, MuleSoft, or other vendors that deliver faster time-to-value and more efficient implementation.

The ability to focus on business value is the secret of Integration Matter's success. One of the major drivers for operational intelligence solutions is the increasing need for real-time decision-making. Integration Matters provides solutions for flexible, integrated, and real-time decision-making support to the operations management in an enterprise. Role-specific, actionable reports facilitate improved responsiveness across the enterprise.

Flagship Product: nJAMS

Available since 2011, nJAMS is not Just Another Monitoring Solution. It is a sophisticated tool for the transparent, real-time development, test and monitoring of business-critical, end-to-end processes.

This non-invasive software tracks the data flow across applications, visualizes the integration interfaces within business processes and provides detailed, analytical in-sights. nJAMS makes it easy to find the root source of any issue and can even start escalation procedures automatically in the event of critical deviations.
